

Society for Social Work and Research

CALL FOR PAPERS

27th Annual Conference
January 11-15, 2023
Sheraton Phoenix Downtown
Phoenix, AZ, USA

Social Work Science and Complex Problems: Battling Inequities + Building Solutions

Submission Deadline:
Friday, April 15, 2022, 11:59 pm, Pacific Time

Abstract Submission Site
Site opens early March 10 2022.

The Conference Planning Committee of the Society for Social Work and Research (SSWR) welcomes submissions for presentations within all content areas of social work, social welfare services, and social policy.

The theme for the 2023 conference is “Social Work Science and Complex Problems: Battling Inequities + Building Solutions.” The COVID pandemic has offered stark reminders of numerous persistent social inequities (related to racism, poverty, and other factors) and has exacerbated already challenging social conditions. It has also offered some momentum in tackling and solving entrenched social problems. Increased awareness, new conceptual frameworks, and creative policy solutions offer opportunities for building and sustaining more effective approaches. Social work science is a major driver of solution-oriented policy and practice and can provide guidance for developing new interventions for problems in which social work has long been engaged as well as new challenges in our contemporary globalized society. Inequity remains at the heart of social problems and must be addressed as we build toward solutions.

The objectives of the conference are to:

- Recognize policy and program impacts of social work research at the local, state, national, and international levels by social work scholars;
- Advance social work as a discipline by reviewing the collective impact and potential for social work science; and
- Center racial equity and social justice in social work research, policy, and practice.

We encourage submissions that describe how research has contributed to changes in individuals, organizations, communities, and policies. The challenge is to describe what has changed as a result of the research not just the research per se. Community partners, research participants, policymakers, and other research partners are welcome as co-presenters.

We also invite critical reflections on how research can better achieve social change. How might we better define issues and engage research participants? What designs, methods, analysis, and means of dissemination maximize public impact? How can social work researchers lead the academy in engaging community and influencing social policy?

We also continue our focus at this conference on racial and social justice. Of particular interest are submissions that address implicit and explicit bias in social work research, and describe research and research findings that advance racial and social justice for all marginalized populations.

Research abstracts are encouraged in all substantive areas, using scientifically sound qualitative and/or quantitative methodology. The research may take place in any country and at the micro, macro, or policy level. This year's conference theme is cross-cutting by population, problem and substantive areas, as well as methodological expertise. As a result, we encourage submissions across all Clusters as they pertain explicitly to the impact of social work research in the form of proposals for individual papers and poster presentations, symposia, roundtable discussions, and workshops.

Cluster areas are:

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1. Adolescent and Youth Development   | 15. LatinX Focused-Research  |
| 2. Aging Services and Gerontology   | 16. Mental Health  |
| 3. American Indian, Alaska Native, Native Hawaiian and Global Indigenous Populations (Indigenous Cluster) | 17. Military Service Members, Veterans and Their Families            |
| 4. Asian and Asian-Pacific Islander Focused-Research  | 18. Organizations and Management                                     |
| 5. Black and African Diaspora Focused-Research  | 19. Race and Ethnicity   |
| 6. Child Welfare  | 20. Research Design and Measurement                                  |
| 7. Communities and Neighborhoods  | 21. Research on Social Work Education                                |
| 8. Crime and Criminal Justice   | 22. School Social Work   |
| 9. Disability   | 23. Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity                           |
| 10. Gender  | 24. Social Work Practice   |
| 11. Health  | 25. Substance Misuse and Addictive Behaviors                         |
| 12. Inequality, Poverty, and Social Welfare Policy  | 26. Sustainable Development, Urbanization, and Environmental Justice |
| 13. International Social Work and Global Issues   | 27. Violence against Women and Children                              |
| 14. Immigrants and Refugees   | 28. Work and Work-Life Policies and Programs                         |

SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS

Abstracts must be submitted in the following formats (see Author Submission Instructions document). Abstracts should be 500 words or less. References are not required, and if included count towards the 500-word limit.

Image(s) and table(s) are not permitted in any abstract.

- (1) Oral paper presentation
- (2) Poster presentation
- (3) Symposium of three or more papers on the same topic to be presented in the same session
- (4) Roundtable
- (5) Workshop

Oral paper, poster, and symposium paper abstracts should be submitted in a structured format and include the following:

- Background and Purpose: description of the problem, study objectives, research question(s) and/or hypothesis (es).

- Methods: study design, including a description of participants and sampling methods, data collection procedures, measures, and appropriate analytic/ statistical approach.
- Results: specific results in summary form.
- Conclusions and Implications: description of the main outcome(s) of the study and implications for practice, policy, or further research.

When submitting a symposium, please submit an abstract (500 words or less) for each symposium paper, along with an overall abstract (500 words or less) for the symposium session that describes the symposium theme and its importance. Preference will be given to symposia that demonstrate cohesiveness across presentations. Symposia will be accepted or rejected in total, i.e., abstracts will not be accepted independently.

Roundtable and workshop session abstracts should:

- add to the current knowledge base in social work practice, policy, theory, and research methodology, and,
- offer clear meaningful implications for social work research, policy and practice.

When submitting a roundtable or a workshop session, please submit an abstract of 500 words or less that describes the content and how it will be addressed. For roundtables, describe the topics that will be addressed elaborating on viewpoints and perspectives to be discussed. The workshop session should offer training opportunities for methodology (study design, sampling, data collection, measurement, and analysis) and describe the pedagogical techniques.

Abstracts should not be based on research previously published elsewhere. Please note that only paper and poster abstracts reporting completed findings will be reviewed. We urge that studies with “findings pending” be submitted for future review after the study is complete. Peer reviews will be used to select submissions based upon technical merit and importance of findings. Please note that all abstracts are to be submitted online using the SSWR online abstract management system at <http://secure.sswr.org/>.

SSWR seeks to optimize as many people participating in the conference as possible. SSWR, therefore, limits the number of roles that participants can play in the 2023 conference. There is a limit of two (2) presenting-author abstract submissions per person. This limit applies to these presentation formats: oral papers, both individual papers and papers within an organized symposium, posters, and workshops. It does not apply to co-authorship. Participants may, however, perform additional roles such as chairing an organized symposium, leading a special interest group, serving as moderator for a session of grouped oral papers, and a panelist in a round table session.

PRESENTER/SPEAKER REQUIREMENTS

You DO NOT need to be a SSWR member to submit an abstract. However, if your abstract is accepted for presentation the presenter/speaker MUST be a current 2023 member and register for the conference. This requirement is applicable to oral paper and poster presenters, symposium organizers, symposium paper presenters and symposium discussants, and workshop and roundtable speakers. Co-authors are not expected to comply with this policy. Co-authors attending the conference, however, are required to register for the conference.

If you have any question about the Call for Papers and/or abstract submission process, please contact DeeJay Garringo, CAE, program director, dj@sswr.org or 703-352-7797, ext. 2.

SUBMISSION DEADLINE

Friday, April 15, 2022, 11:59 pm, Pacific Time